

TO ENTERTAIN LAW MAKERS

Parnell To Speak Here Friday, 26th, at State Station

Governor to Make Principal Address on Visiting Day Program

4th ANNUAL EVENT
Director Ware Promises Best Program in History of Farm

Governor Parnell will be the principal speaker and the guest of the city at the fourth annual visiting day program to be held at the Fruit & Truck Branch, Experiment Station Friday, June 26.

The governor's acceptance of the local engagement was definitely announced Wednesday by George W. Ware, assistant director in charge of the farm.

Twenty on Program
Elaborate preparations have been made and 20 agriculturists have been engaged to systematically conduct all visitors over the station and explain the hundreds of experiments which are being conducted. The forenoon will be spent in visiting the 185 acre University farm, and in inspecting the buildings, equipment and livestock. During the noon hour, an amusement program has been arranged, including stunts, a negro quartet and music.

Visitors are requested to bring their lunch, but those who prefer can purchase same on the station grounds. Governor Parnell and some of the state's leading educators appear on the program, as shown:

Governor to Speak
1:00-2:30—Joint Educational Speaking Program, G. W. Ware, Assistant Director in charge, chairman.

Rural Development Agencies, Stanley Andrews, Editor, Arkansas Farmer.

Our Contribution, Mrs. W. F. Lake, President of Women's Federated Clubs.

The University and Its Branches, Dr. J. C. Futrell, President, University of Arkansas.

Arkansas Agricultural Program, Dean Dan T. Gray, Dean and Director of the College of Agriculture.

Address, Governor Harvey Parnell, 2:30-4:00—Group Demonstrations for Ladies, Mrs. Esther G. Kramer, District Home Demonstration Agent, Chairman.

Roadside Marketing, Sam Knox, Extension Marketing Specialist.

Home Beautification, Professor J. R. Cooper, Department of Horticulture.

Standards in Food Preservation, Miss Ruby Mendenhall, Food Preservation Specialist.

Museum Gets Vehicles of Wheelmen

It was the last active meeting of the Wheelman's Association in Philadelphia when the gray-haired veterans of the organization had taken a final spin on their old high-wheelers and tandems, the relics were turned over to the Franklin Institute as museum pieces. Here you see May McPharlane, left, and Celia Dietiker with a "single-seater" built in 1817. Note the flat iron tires and the absence of pedals.

J. Ford Johnson, 75, Dies at Columbus

Well Known Hempstead County Citizen Succumbs to Long Illness

J. Ford Johnson, 75, widely known Hempstead county citizen, died at his home in Columbus at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Johnson was stricken ill late in the winter. He had been appointed one of the three members of the Hempstead County Loan Committee for the administration of the federal agricultural loans in February and March, but never was able to serve. Prior to that he had been active in business and in county affairs.

The funeral service is to be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning from the First Presbyterian church of Columbus, by the Rev. J. C. Williams of Washington, officiating, assisted by the Rev. W. R. Anderson, of Hope, and the Rev. H. H. McGuire, of Washington. Burial will be in the Columbus cemetery.

Mr. Johnson is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Jim Wilson, Jr., of Columbus; two sisters, Mrs. Harry Briant, of Hope and Mrs. B. M. Wood, of Waco, Texas; and one brother, Roy Johnson, of Hope.

May Try Buying Washington Post

Mrs. Patterson, Editor of the Washington Herald Is Prospecting

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The possibility that Mrs. Elinor Patterson, editor of the Washington Herald, is in the race for ownership of the Washington Post was seen Tuesday as competition increased in negotiations for sale of the newspaper. Assurance was given that William Randolph Hearst publisher of the Herald and other newspapers, would make a determined effort to buy the Post.

The plant and newspaper published by Edward B. McLean were offered for sale publicly Monday when trustees asked the District of Columbia Supreme Court for permission to accept a bid of $3,000,000 by David Lawrence, publisher of the United States Daily and president of the Consolidated Press. The court is expected to act Wednesday.

Hoover Speaks to Illinois Assembly

Will Rededicate Tomb of Abraham Lincoln at Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(AP)—President Hoover emphasized the duties of the state governments Wednesday before the Illinois assembly and warned "our machinery of government must be shifted some" to meet a change in economic and other conditions.

Reminding the assembly that he must be a speaker later in the day at the rededication of Abraham Lincoln's tomb, the president limited his remarks.

Bankers Plan to Aid State Farmers

Program Discussed at the Meeting of Arkansas Banking Group

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—A program to get Arkansas farmers on a self-sustaining basis in time of drought and depression was discussed Tuesday at a meeting of the State Bank Association's agriculture committee.

The committee heard reports from agricultural extension service workers on the progress made in food conservation and the state's outlook for next winter. All of the reports were in an optimistic vein and tended to show rural communities would be economically independent next winter.

Miss Connie Bonslagle, state home demonstration agent, said canning campaigns were being held in practically every county. Thousands of cans of food already have been preserved for the winter, Miss Bonslagle's report showed.

Stanley M. Andrews gave a report which showed farmers must raise 1,125,000 acres of feed stuff this year to care for 1,458,494 head of livestock, exclusive of feed for about 600,000 hogs and 7,000,000 chickens. He said 637,322 acres of feed stuff was grown in 1929.

Airport Won't Do For Armory, State Tells Committee

Mayor and Council Get Committee Report Tuesday Night

POSTPONED JULY 7th
Council and Mayor Defer Action—Only Suitable Site Held at $3,500

State military authorities are opposed to locating the Hope armory on the airport property, and their only choice as a suitable location for the $25,000 state building is an uptown lot which the city is asked to buy for $3,500, the armory committee reported to the city council Tuesday night.

Tuesday afternoon the committee, Ira Halliburton, Bob Gosnell and W. A. Lewis, met the three ranking officials of the state military department at a conference here when a dozen tentative locations were inspected.

State Visitors
The Little Rock visitors were: Brig. Gen. E. L. Compere, adjutant general of the state; Col. H. L. McAllister, of the 153rd Infantry; and Lieut. Col. Charles S. Garrett, assistant adjutant general.

General Compere said the department could not consider the airport location at all, and thought but one of the uptown locations was ideally suited for the proposed building.

The committee's report was presented to the council Tuesday night by Alderman Gosnell, with Mayor John Vesey and all the aldermen present. None of the Little Rock officials remained over for the council meeting, saying they had to visit Texarkana and return to Little Rock Tuesday night.

Mr. Gosnell reported that the most probable armory site was the pair of townlots at Elm street and Avenue B owned by Mrs. Caswell McRae and the Woodmen of the World. The combined lots measure 125 feet frontage by 142 feet in depth. The Woodmen's lot has a 75 foot front, and is held for $2,000, while Mrs. McRae's property measures 50 feet, and is valued at $1,500.

Mayor Asks Time
Mayor Vesey questioned the armory committee members closely as to the state's plans for immediate construction of a building in the event that the city buys the real estate and deeds it to the state. Mr. Gosnell said General Compere told the committee that the state expected to sell its armory bonds in July, and that construction would follow immediately after the bond sale.

The mayor then delivered a brief speech to the council asking permission to hold a vote on actual purchase of an armory site until the first Tuesday in July, which is the next meeting date of the council. He said the City of Hope owed more than $40,000, that its assets were not immediately available, but that the city wanted the armory by all means, if the real estate could be gotten advantageously.

Alderman Roy Stephenson moved his motion until July 7, and the motion carried unanimously.

Alderman Gosnell asked the mayor to discharge the armory committee, but Mayor Vesey suggested that the committee serve until the July 7th session, to which Mr. Gosnell assented.

Nicaraguan Rebels Kill Two Marines

Death of Americans During Skirmish Reported to Navy Department

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The death of two marines attached to the Nicaraguan National Guard in a skirmish with Nicaraguan insurgents was reported Tuesday to the Navy Department.

A message from Lieut. Col. Franklin B. Garrett, commanding the Second Marine Brigade in the Latin-American country, besides naming the men, told only that they met death Monday in Western-Central Nicaragua.

The men were: Lieut. Lester E. Power of Calistoga, Cal., and Sergt. William E. McGeehee of Chattanooga, Tenn. The former had been attached to the Nicaraguan National Guard since August, last year. He was married. Sergeant McGeehee enlisted in 1927.

Lieutenant Power served as a captain and McGeehee as a lieutenant in the native guard.

Rev. Anderson on Missouri Program

Hope Pastor Preaches Centennial Sermon at Palmyra, Mo.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Anderson have returned home from Palmyra, Mo., native home of the pastor of the Hope First Presbyterian church, where the Rev. Mr. Anderson helped celebrate the 100th anniversary of the Palmyra Presbyterian church Sunday, June 7. The Rev. Mr. Anderson preached the morning sermon, and was given an ovation in the city where he was born and reared and where his family is well known today.

The Andersons revisit Palmyra every summer, and the 100th anniversary of the founding of the pastor's home church was a special reason for their visit, this year.

Farmer Troubled One Way or Other President is Told

INDIANAPOLIS—(AP)—President Hoover was reminded that if it isn't one trouble, it's another so far as the farmer goes.

From the rear platform of his special train en route here he inquired of some of those around the car at Mayville, Ky., about the crops.

"One of the citizens gave an enthusiastic report of how the grass was growing and crops ripening. He went into detail.

"Then the grass and roots were not burned out in the drouth last year, as they feared," commented Mr. Hoover.

"No, indeed," drawled a farmer in the crowd as he let go of the worn suspenders over his shoulders. "But the cut worm is at work down here now."

"They always have to come along," said the president sympathetically.

"Yes, 'bout every 50 years they hit around here anyway," was the reply but the farmer smiled as he reported again that crops were good.

County and City Will Clear Up 67

Judge Higginson and City to Adjust Third Street Right-of-Way Claims

Hempstead county and the City of Hope will co-operate to clear the right-of-way for No. 67, the Broadway of America route, where it enters the city on Third street, as the result of an agreement reached at the city council meeting Tuesday night.

Judge Higginson appeared before the council with a proposal to split the cost of acquiring the right-of-way, between the city and the county. He estimated the probable total cost at between $750 and $800 being chiefly the settling of claims maintained by nine negro families.

The mayor and council agreed to the Judge's proposal, and a committee of three were named to co-operate with him, these being Aldermen Luther Garner and Bob Gosnell, and Mayor Vesey.

Judge Higginson told the council that the state would complete its paving between Hope and Fulton in July, and if it got the right-of-way on Third street would grade and gravel the eight blocks from the terminus of the city paving at Third and Washington, to the beginning of the state paving at the corporation line.

Divorce Appeal Up to Supreme Court

Allegation of Fraud May Kill Referendum Measure

LITTLE ROCK—The Home Protective association, which is sponsoring the referendum petition against the 90-day divorce law, will appeal to the Arkansas Supreme Court either Wednesday or Thursday against Attorney General Hal Norwood's ruling that the petition was faulty and of no effect.

This announcement was made Tuesday by J. W. Westbrook, the association attorney, when Secretary of State Ed McDonald decided to follow Mr. Norwood's ruling on the law.

The protest filed by Hot Springs citizens against the petition, and which led to the attorney general's adverse ruling, read as follows:

"The undersigned legal and qualified voters of the state of Arkansas respectfully protest against the secreted heretofore filed for the purpose of referring the above petition to the referendum under the provisions of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas. Said protest is made for the following reasons:

"1. That a sufficient number of signatures do not appear on the petition.

"2. That practically all of the signatures appearing on said petitions were secured on the Sabbath which renders them same illegal and void.

"3. That the said petitioners were circulated by different persons and verification thereon was made by one person who was not the same person who in all instances circulated the petitions, thus rendering a large majority of the signers names illegal as not in substantial compliance with the law.

"4. That the notice published, the petitions circulated and filed, and the title to be submitted to the voters all designate the act to be submitted as Act No. 80 of the Acts of the General Assembly of the state of Arkansas for the year 1931, when in truth and in fact the act which the petitioners attempted to submit to the voters is Act No. 71 of the Acts of the General Assembly of the state of Arkansas for the year 1931, entitled: 'An Act to Amend Section 3505 of Crawford & Moses Digest of the Statutes of Arkansas,' and neither notice, the petition, or the title furnished to the voters placed on the ballot correspond with the act which the petitioners attempted to submit to the voters for their approval or rejection.

"5. That the petitioners did not comply with the constitutional and statutory requirements in that they did not file with the election commissioners of the state of Arkansas a petition, a copy of the title, and the act to be submitted to the voters at the time, or prior to the filing of the petition.

"6. That the petitioners did not comply with the constitutional and statutory requirements in that they did not file with the election commissioners of the state of Arkansas a petition, a copy of the title, and the act to be submitted to the voters at the time, or prior to the filing of the petition.

"7. That the petitioners did not comply with the constitutional and statutory requirements in that they did not file with the election commissioners of the state of Arkansas a petition, a copy of the title, and the act to be submitted to the voters at the time, or prior to the filing of the petition.

Appeal Decided By Death For Veteran Who Slays Sheriff

Jason L. Matlock, a Civil War Veteran Dies Wednesday

KILLED A SHERIFF
Shoots Officer Seeking His Arrest on Assault Charges

HUNTSVILLE, Ark.—(AP)—Death Wednesday decided the appeal of Jason L. Matlock, 85-year-old Civil war veteran, from life imprisonment, for which he was sentenced for the slaying of Sheriff John Phillips last December when the latter went to the veterans' home to arrest him on a charge of assault to kill a neighbor.

No relatives claimed the body which was buried in a potters field.

Baby Drowns In Bucket of Water

Doctor Unable to Revive Child, Although It Is Found Alive

AMITY—The year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lambert, living eight miles east of here, drowned in a bucket of water at the family home last Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Lambert left the house for a few minutes to gather berries. Returning she found the baby in the bucket.

The child was alive and a doctor was called, but the child died a few minutes later.

Besides her parents, the child is survived by a sister.

Caraway Scores Hoover Proposal

Says President Made No Definite Recommendation on Tax Revision

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Hoover's proposals for revision of the nation's tax and banking systems brought speculation on whether a definite move toward such legislation would be made at the next Congress.

The chief executive's recommendations were voiced at Indianapolis in an address devoted to the business depression.

Previously, Secretary Mellon and Undersecretary Mills had advocated revision of the tax laws.

Approval of the Hoover Address was expressed by Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, while Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, criticized it for failing to give definite recommendations.

Sensor Caraway said he agreed some changes in the banking and tax systems might be advisable.

"But what Mr. Hoover said," he added, "is this: 'There is some way out of the depression, but I don't know what it is. There is some remedy, but I don't know what it is. We'll just have to wait and in the normal course of events, something may happen.'"

"His speech is entirely platitudinous, Arkansas who said: 'A hog that takes the cholera and ingers always has a better chance to recover than a hog that takes the cholera and dies.'"

"His speech is entirely platitudinous. He makes no definite recommendation. If he wants the taxes shifted to those least able to bear them, as I suspect then I oppose it.

"If the administration were sincere in its economy move, it could remedy the situation without any legislation. It could cut administrative expenses one-third without repairing the government's functions."

Divorce Suit Now on Hot Springs File

Chancellor Reports Other Cases Ready to Be Placed on File

HOT SPRINGS—(AP)—With one divorce suit, under the new 90 day residence law already on file and others said to be ready for filing, chancellor W. B. Duffie told the Associated Press Wednesday that in his opinion the new law was now in effect since petitions for a referendum were held sufficient by the secretary of state.

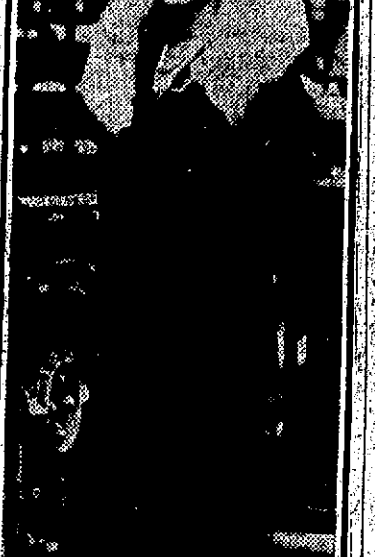

Divorce casts filed now however, he said will not come before him for hearing for thirty days because of a law requiring the publication of notices for that period.

Henry Bunch of Winston Salem, N. C. instituted the first case alleging that his wife, Lillian Bunch left him at the altar.

Jefferson County Representative To Be Host to Members

H. K. Toney Plans Having Two-Day Meeting at His Country Home

SENATORS TO MEET
North Arkansas Meeting of Senators to Begin on July 24

PINE BLUFF—(AP)—Representative H. K. Toney of Jefferson county announced Wednesday he plans to invite the members of the state house of representatives to meet unofficially at his country home near here about before or after the unofficial session of the state senate in Northwest Arkansas.

A two day meeting would be devoted to entertainment and a discussion of state affairs.

Senators Meet in July
LITTLE ROCK—Senator Storm O. Whaley of Sulphur Springs, Benton county, announced here Tuesday that the unofficial meeting of the Arkansas Senate which he proposed several months ago will be held July 24, 25 and 26.

The opening session will be held at Bella Vista July 24, with a "biennial message" from Governor Patrick. Subsequent sessions will be held at Rogers, Bentonville and other Ozark resort towns. The meeting will include a visit to the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville.

Senator Whaley said the program has not been completed, but that tentative plans call for the introduction of bills which will be discussed by senators. A session will be held at Hot Springs, where the governor's residence will be installed for speakers. Senator Whaley laughed heartily as he told of how an acquaintance had expressed hope that the roof of the cave would fall in during the session, entombing the legislators.

All members of the Senate, several state officials and hundreds of citizens from various parts of the state have informed Senator Whaley that they will attend the sessions. Several employees of the 1931 session will be on hand. Senator Whaley's son, Storm O. Whaley, a page at the regular session, will lead a group of pages for the "play session."

Sensor Whaley said he hopes the much good will result from the unofficial session through exchange of ideas on state matters, and that he will sponsor a measure in the next legislature to authorize legislators to have proposed bills mimeographed and distributed to all members in advance of the biennial session.

Informal Meeting B.&P.W. Tuesday

Air Mail Greeting From State President Is Received

An informal meeting of the Business & Professional Women's Club was held at the Hotel Barlow Tuesday night. The dining table was in the shape of a "U" and the decorations were smart daisies and smilax.

Robert Young, recently returned from Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., who possesses a splendid tenor voice, sang two selections, "Little Grey Home in the West," and "Mighty Lak a Rose." He was accompanied at the piano by Miss Pansy Wimberly, a recent graduate of Henderson State Teachers College. Miss Wimberly also played "A Belated Moonlight," by Professor Frederic Harwood of Henderson State Teachers College.

Miss Bess Walker was also a guest, being with her sister, Mrs. C. M. Walker.

During the business session, presided over by Miss Mary Arnold, club president, matters of routine importance were considered. A number of souvenirs were received, among them being an air mail greeting from the State President, Mrs. W. G. McDonald of Little Rock, which will go into the scrap book. A number of rice recipes were received, compliments of the St. Charles, Louisiana, club.

Mrs. McDonald gave high lights of the trip to the Bi-annual Convention in Richmond next month, telling of he plans for entertainment en route and while there, and the subjects to be discussed in the conference sessions. Mrs. McDonald is making a tour of some of the clubs in the State at this time, and will visit the El Dorado Club tonight. She also called attention to the fact that June 17th marks the twelfth anniversary of the formation of the Arkansas Federation of the Business & Professional Women's Club as the result of a meeting of the Y. W. C. A. in Little Rock June 17, 1919, at which time, Miss Efficient tax reform, and a more efficient government through the budget system of expenditures.

Free Arkansas from the cattle tick.

A Sensible Suggestion

SENATOR GARAWAY, commenting on press dispatches reporting a drought greater than last year's in six Northwestern states, advocated the establishing of the government's $65,000,000 Southern drought loan as a revolving fund to be used for natural emergencies from year to year.

There is merit in the senator's suggestion. Last year the drought struck heavily in our section of America. This season we have abundant rain, but from Wisconsin to the Pacific coast along the Canadian boundary country much of the wheat is parched beyond recovery.

The spirit behind all insurance projects directs us to make some regular provision for national calamities that strike first one section and then another, and to distribute this burden evenly among all territories and all citizens.

Naturally the government expects to be repaid on its Southern drought loans for it holds mortgages against the crops it helped to finance. But there would be an added moral inducement for the borrower to repay the government if he knew that the money he used one year was to be called for by a fellow American citizen next year.

We trust that early reports on the drought in the Northwest are mistaken, but true or false they serve as a warning to us to be prepared against natural calamities that defeat the best efforts of individual men, of whole counties and entire states. The suggestion of a federal revolving fund is good, it strikes us.

Speculation in Paper

THIS country knows all about the post-war deflation in cotton. And the East knows all about the crash in stocks and bonds. But here is an interesting story from Canada about paper—the very paper The Star is printed on.

It may be of interest to other local business men to know that the newsprint (trade name for roll-print paper) market has been "busted" for the last several years. The Star, for instance, is buying paper today at the same price it paid in 1929, and the price had been stationary then for several years. The newsprint mills claimed they were selling it below cost—and their earning statements prove it.

American newspapers get their paper from Canada. Practically all of the American spruce and other woodpulp going into the manufacture of white paper was exhausted during the World War, and afterward the majority of this business went over into Canada. The Star took 60 tons of newsprint in 1930, all of it from the Abitibi Paper & Paper Co., Sault Ste Marie, Canada.

The stimulus of war-time production caused the Canadians to go into a frenzy of newsprint mill construction and finance. Editor & Publisher reports that Canada already has enough mills to supply American newspaper needs if they continued to grow from now until 1936 as fast as they grew from 1923 to 1929—which won't happen.

The mills issued bonds for their construction cost, and stocks for the profits they were going to make.

But the bottom fell out of it—sometime between the hour that cotton went down and the stock market crashed. We read last week that the Canada Power & Paper Co., one of the big fellows, is proposing to reorganize, calling in $35,000,000 worth of debentures at 15 cents on the dollar. Its whole capital structure is to be reduced 40 per cent. Other Canadian companies are bound to follow suit.

This sounds like a public calamity. Canadian investors seeing their investment shrink from 40 to 50 cents on the dollar, will consider it a very real calamity. But isn't it after all the sensible thing to do?

Prosperity will never be with us again so long as we hold fast to the fictitious goal of war-boom profits, regardless what line of business we are in.

The thing to do is to cut down the capitalization to a point where 1930-31 operations will show a fair profit. And when that profit begins to look as though it would justify an increased stock issue again, the prosperity boom will have returned. This sort of thing is going to be heard from in the big American industrialists also. And Canada is not moving particularly fast either. Canadian newsprint mill stockholders had been doing without dividends for four or five years before they finally decided upon an emergency operation.

Robbing a Welfare Till

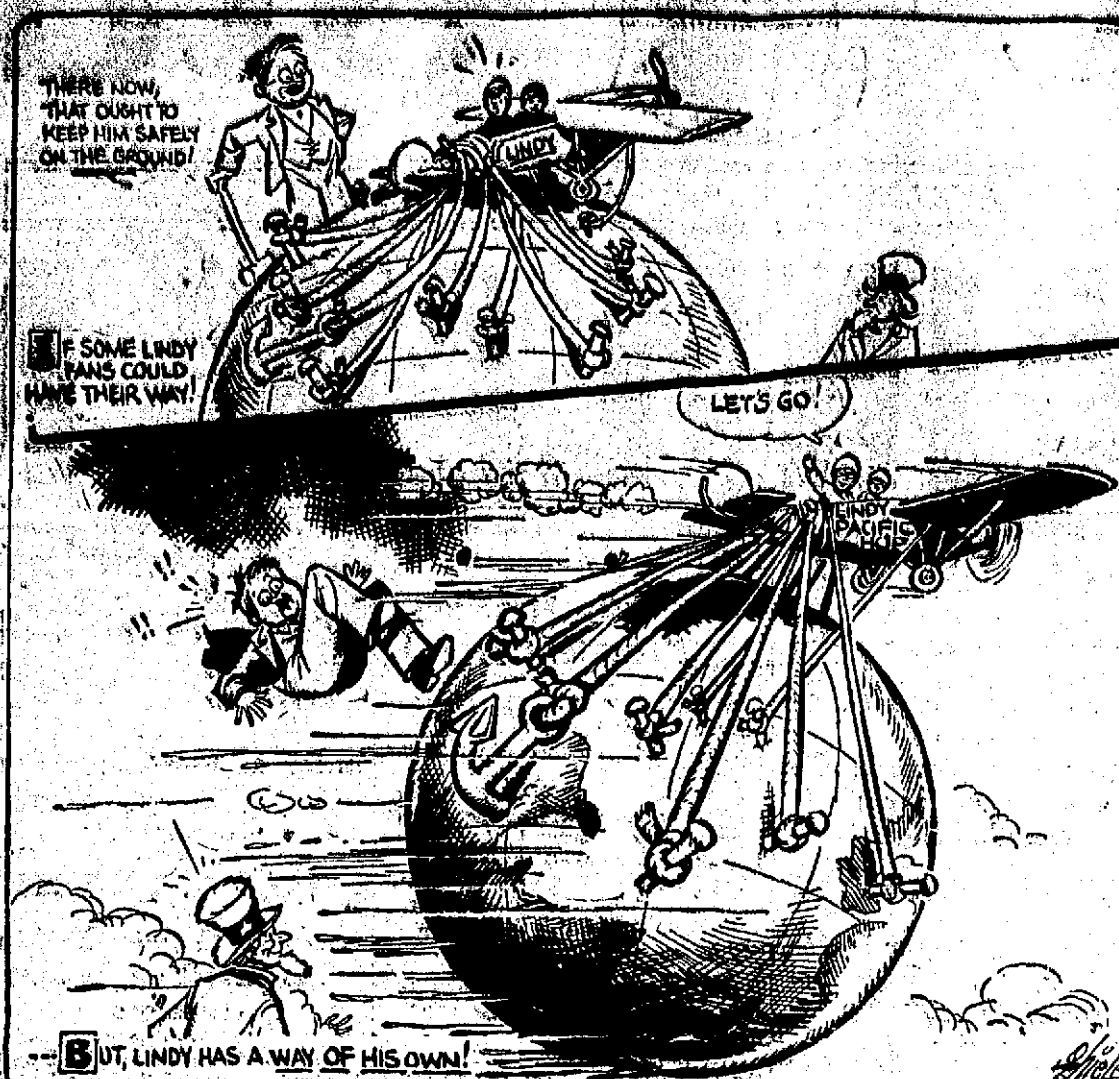

IT is not necessary to page Alexander F. Lewis of Detroit. He has been paged by the police and public prosecutors of the Henry Ford city. Detroit has a million dollars a month dole system. Mayor Murphy and his lieutenants have been feeding the hungry and it takes a million dollars a month to pay the bread and meat bill.

Lewis was paid $130 a month as a clerk in the public welfare department. He is under arrest. He is said to have confessed that he stole between $50,000 and $60,000 from the welfare fund. Mayor Murphy said arrest of other civic employees may be expected as the sum of $207,000 has disappeared.

Alexander F. Passed as a "wealthy man about town by night" and investigators discovered he had purchased two expensive automobiles, a yacht, hired a chauffeur and had started construction of a home and a summer cottage. He was a robber of the charity fund according to his own confession.

A man who would rob a charity fund would steal from a blind man.—Tezarkana Press.

'Stepping Out' To Open On Thursday

Critics Pronounce This to Be Among the Best of Productions

A cast of unusual importance will be seen Thursday at the Saenger Theatre in "Stepping Out," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy romance of amateur movie producers and their interfering wives.

Charlotte Greenwood whose long legs won her stardom on the stage and who recently scored in the talkie version of "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," has a featured role. Leila Hyams, lately seen opposite John Gilbert in "Way of a Sailor" and "Gentleman's Fate," and in the featured feminine role of "Men Call It Love," has the other outstanding "wife" characterization.

Reginald Denny, who also ocsred in "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," and previous to that film, was featured in "A Lady's Morals" and "Those Three French Girls," plays the henpecked husband, Lillian Bond, who makes her first screen appearance, following a successful career on the New York stage, is seen as a vamping gold digger. She Personified Maid of Orleans

Personified by a young girl chosen for her resemblance to Joan of Arc, the famous warrior-maid of Lorraine rode again through the streets of Rouen, France, scene of her martyrdom five centuries ago. Here you see Mlle. Brabant, who embodied the heroine-saint for the day of historic pageantry.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. M. Cantley on East Second street, with Mrs. H. D. Lipscomb and Mrs. W. P. Agee as associate hostesses. This will be Flower Mission Day, and members are requested to bring flowers for distribution among the hospitals and shut-ins. A splendid program is being prepared.

Mrs. John Green and daughter Evelyn, Mrs. Johnnie McCabe and son Jack and Sid McFalls left Tuesday for Dallas, where they will attend the wedding of Miss Margaret McMath to Warren A. Tipton at the Tyler Street Methodist church, Wednesday evening.

News has just reached friends in this city announcing the passing of J. Ford Johnson at his home in Columbus. Funeral arrangements have not been completed at this time, but will be some time Thursday at Columbus, with burial in the family cemetery.

Miss Ellen Lou Bowden returned Tuesday from a visit to Houston and Galveston, Tex.

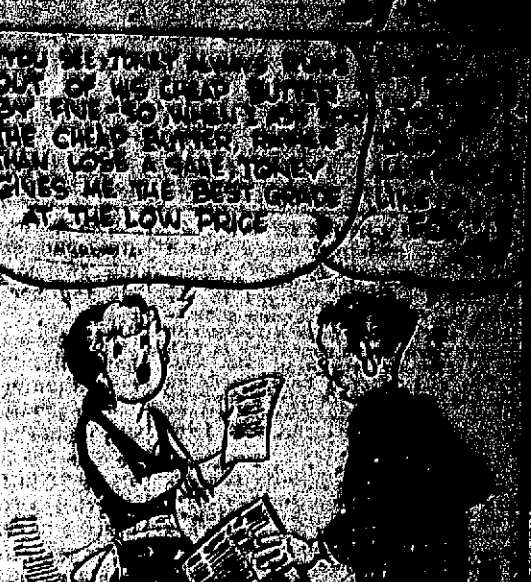

Mrs. J. I. Bowden and daughter, Ellen Lou are spending the week visiting in Hot Springs and Little Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Russell returned Tuesday from LaDonia, Tex., where they were called to the bedside of Mr. Russell's sister, who is seriously ill there.

A cat belonging to F. L. Bradley of Weston, Texas, mothered two of her own kittens, three squirrels and a rabbit.

Beaumont, Texas, is to be headquarters of the first reserve chemical warfare battalion in the state.

How One Woman LOST 47 POUNDS

In 3 Months and Feels 3 Years Younger

Mrs. S. A. Solomon of New Bern, N. C., lost 47 pounds in 3 months with Kruschen Salts. She weighed from 217 to 170 pounds. She feels much stronger, years younger and pains in sides, back and abdomen that bothered her for years are all gone. She says she not only feels better but looks better as all her friends tell her.

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at all druggists the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back.
